ROCKWELL KENT

The 1938 POT POURRI staff is honored to have in its book the work of such an outstanding American artist as Rockwell Kent. This picture, obtained through the efforts of Art Editor, Gordon Kent, has been drawn expressly for the 1938 POT POURRI; the prints of this picture are limited to those carried in this edition.

MR. BENNER

Professor Benner has given forty-six years of service to Phillips Academy. During this time he has been the favored teacher and friend of a countless number of P. A. men. In recognition of his devotion to Andover we respectfully dedicate the 1938 POT POURRI to Allen Rogers Benner.

A T I O N

MR. PHILLIPS

Long noted for his kindness and skill in the instruction of Andover undergraduates is John Lewis Phillips. His forty-four years of unfailing service are, in themselves, a remarkable token of his loyalty to Phillips Academy. In recognition of his devotion to Andover we respectfully dedicate the 1938 POT POURRI to John Lewis Phillips.

F O R E W O R D

The 1938 POT POURRI is submitted to its readers as a transitional book. Through it the editors have tried to break the long succession of almost identical POT POURRIS which have appeared year after year. It is hoped that the innovations introduced in this POT POURRI will give vitality to the necessarily stereotyped contents of the yearbook. The editors of the 1938 POT POURRI feel that their book, if favorably received, will mark a transition to a new, changed type of Andover annual.

JUNIOR YEAR

ON our own at last! Williams Hall seemed to us a very important part of our new experience at a "big prep school"; but after a day of tramping over the campus, "prepping" for all those seasoned seniors, and stumbling over the newly-laid foundations of Rockwell House, with our feet getting wearier every minute, we returned to our bleak, undecorated room, feeling that Williams Hall was but a tiny oasis in the great, formidable desert of the Andover campus.

That first Fall Term was long and interesting, climaxed by a close but glorious Exeter game, 7-6 in the Blue's favor. Ours was one of the lucky classes to see a victory parade and bonfire in our first term at school, and these colorful events started us off on four years of loyal spirit behind the blue flourishings of the banner we were soon to honor and admire.

We cheered with the crowd which bid Mr. and Mrs. Allan Heely a fond farewell before their departure to Lawrenceville where the newly-appointed Headmaster Heely was to assume his duties. In the short time we had known him, this well-liked gentleman had won our sincere regard, and even we Juniors were sorry to see him go.

The Winter Term was bitterly cold, and we tried our hand at skiing and tobogganing on the hill in back of Williams Hall. Best of all our frosty good-times were the snow-fights on Phillips Street each night before eight o'clock. However icy the winds, nevertheless the swimming, wrestling, and fencing teams all had successful seasons, brought to a happy close by three consecutive Exeter defeats by the Blue. "The Milky Way," the Dramatic Club's excellent effort, afforded us much amusement through the columns of the Phillipian and through the performance itself, helping to break the monotony of the dark, snowy days.

Spring came, and with it more bad weather. A chapel speaker, quoting pertinently from Mark Twain on the subject of the New England climate, said: "If you don't like it, wait a minute!" But sunny days came at last, and with them an amazingly good track team, which defeated the Red and Gray by the astounding score of $101\frac{2}{3}$ to $24\frac{1}{3}$. Exeter took her revenge on the baseball diamond, however, winning 8-5. Athletics for the year were over, and Andover teams had beaten the New Hampshireites seven times out of twelve encounters, with victories in two out of three of the major sports.

Most of us unhampered by threatening College Boards, departed gaily for our homes early in June, leaving the furrow-browed upper classmen to their scholarly pursuits, little realizing that only too soon we were to replace them. Thus, with hopeful and untroubled countenances, we completed the first chapter in our Andover life.

MARK LAWRENCE

LOWER MIDDLE YEAR

IT was too bad that we had to miss two weeks of school in September because of an infantile paralysis scare, but we managed to find something to do in those two weeks before we returned. When we did return, it was to a familiar Andover Hill, for we were now "old men" and felt pretty cocky about it. We did not hesitate to use our influence on the "preps," and it was a great feeling to have some one to look down on.

We found Rockwell Hall completed and already full of "preps," who didn't look very homesick. The new wing of the infirmary was likewise ready for use, and it received our approval, as did the Lower Middle Commons Room in Peabody House.

Andover's teams had a remarkable record to show for their efforts. We dropped the football game to Exeter when their team capitalized on a blocked kick for the only score of the game; however, our soccer team's victory partially made up for it, continuing Coach Jim Ryley's notable record of never having lost a game to Exeter.

The winter term saw an Andover sweep of all Exeter contests. Outstanding was the hockey team's 6-1 triumph, which decisively put an end to Exeter's nine-year monopoly in that sport. The swimming team's victory was marked by a number of broken records. Mr. DiClementi, in his first year as basketball coach, turned out a winning combination which defeated Exeter, 36-30. The fencing squad and wrestling team, led by undefeated captains, and the track team all were successful against Exeter.

In the spring a crushing track victory started a string of major sport victories over Exeter which has yet to be broken. Exeter won in lacrosse and golf, but lost in tennis. On the diamond Ted Harrison turned back Exeter, 6-1, while turning in the first of his great pitching exhibitions against Exeter. He allowed only four hits and deserved a shutout.

The musical entertainment for the year was marked by concerts by Rachmaninoff, Edith Lorand, Lotte Lehman, and Efrem Zimbalist. There were also several musical vespers during the winter.

The Dramatic Club directed by Mr. Cook presented Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" at the end of the winter term. The Phillipian experimented with a comic strip and conducted a poll of national affairs which showed the school to be strongly Republican. Henry Finch dragged the Mirror off its death bed and made it produce three fine issues. Philo awoke and held a lively debating tournament.

After the Spring Prom and Commencement exercises were over, and we had had our first taste of College Boards, we gladly set out for home and summer vacation, but we appreciated all that we had to come back to the next fall.

ROBERT A. GARDNER, JR.

UPPER MIDDLE YEAR

OUR return to old P. A. a week earlier than usual was slightly disturbing, but we were soon settled back in the routine of school life. The year passed eventfully through the three seasons with an unusually long Easter vacation (to make up for the early return in the fall), and we left school in the spring with the great prospect of only one more year until graduation.

The athletic season started off brilliantly: "Cape" Burnam, with a broken leg, led from the bench the best football team Andover has seen in a long time. Their undefeated season culminated in a 12 to 7 victory over Exeter. The track team defeated our worthy rivals, 51 to 35 and the baseball nine cleaned up Exeter's remains by a score of 8-0.

Of all the Athletic teams, only the swimmers, golfers, and lacrosse-men met defeat at our rival's hands.

The social activities program introduced noted Kreisler, McCormack, Trudi Schoop, the Russian Symphonic Choir, and other artists, to the George Washington auditorium. Far from being the least outstanding among these was the successful Dramatic Club play, "June Moon," under the able direction of Mr. Cook, and acted by a very capable band of P. A. students.

Before our eyes Bulfinch Hall was transformed into a magnificent building to house the English Department. The foundations for the new faculty houses in "Little Siberia" also made their appearance. It was with these improvements and the memory of former greater and more glorious ones in mind that we sadly learned of the death of Andover's greatest benefactor, Thomas Cochran. Later we received more sad news with the passing of George T. Eaton, more familiarly known as "Pap" whom we knew only slightly, but respected a great deal as a devoted friend and teacher of our predecessors.

Of great importance during the year was the raising of the Teachers' Retirement Fund. With it passed three great teachers, Charlie Stone, Archie Freeman, and Jimmy Graham, whom we would greatly miss next year.

The year as a whole could not have been better. An extremely mild winter, although disappointing to the skiers and skaters, delighted most of us. Then came the usual grand and glorious spring, marked by blossoming trees, longer days, and less work. As the end neared, we began to realize that we were about to enter our last year at Andover. A sense of pride and joy filled us as we looked forward to the coming year when we were to attain the hallowed position of Seniors.

HUNTER S. MARSTON, JR.

SENIOR YEAR

SUMMER came and went and the seventeenth of September found us safely within the sanctity of Andover once more. The school had not changed much, save for the completion of the five faculty residences better known as "Little Siberia."

At once the corps of 1938 made its triumphal entry onto the Main Campus and its adjoining dormitories, the baggage train of preps bringing up the rear. With our position won after a three-year campaign, as the new lords and masters serenely quartered, we began our last year on Andover Hill. Many of us worked with varying degrees of effectiveness while others found more pleasant pastimes in enjoying the Senior privileges—a very happy existence, this. And now we face commencement with mingled feelings of which we are not the masters. We shall soon leave, but few of us will forget our senior year at Andover.

The notable lectures of George Sokolsky, Alan Villiers, Robert Frost, and many other entertaining speakers; the concerts given by Richard Crooks, Marcel Dupré, Guiseppè Moschetti, and their contemporary artists; all these we were privileged to enjoy. Of more lasting fame for us was the memorable 20-15 football victory on that mud-laden Exeter gridiron, or the triumph of the undefeated soccer men, or that of the wrestling, fencing and winter track teams. Humor found its way into our school life in the creation of the mythical A. Montague Fitzpatrick and the "Musty Bowl" which baffled faculty and students for a brief time.

We have witnessed great activity this year among the extra-curricular organizations. While the Dramatic Club presentation of "Cock Robin" and the reorganized Riveters have entertained the student body, other organizations such as Circle A, the Musical Clubs, the Camera Club, and Philo have contributed greatly to school life. The Society of Inquiry was particularly outstanding in organizing the charities drive in which the quota of twenty-seven hundred dollars was topped. A winter prom, the best in years, with Claude Hopkins, and his orchestra lifted a deadly winter term from the doldrums, and we now look forward to an equally successful spring prom.

We were saddened to hear of the deaths of two of our trustees, Mr. Lansing Reed in October and Mr. John W. Prentiss in March, both great lovers of Andover and very recent appointments to the Board. The Academy also lost a friend and benefactor in the death of Mr. Charles Morgan, a former trustee.

Of a happier nature though, were the appointments of Bishop Henry W. Hobson of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Robert Abbe Gardner of Lake Forest, Illinois, to the Board of Trustees.

Whatever the Class of 1938 has contributed to Andover, we feel that the greatest good was achieved in the reorganization of the Senior Council into a Student Council of fourteen members from all classes. The plan has been successfully instituted; it remains for future classes to test and improve. Its value as a contribution is yet to be ascertained, but our hopes for its prosperity are a tying bond to the school we are leaving.

All the above may serve solely as a reminder of a year profitably spent and greatly enjoyed; yet it is these petty events experienced with our friends that will endear Andover to us.

CUM LAUDE SOCIETY

GAMMA CHAPTER

CHARTER GRANTED 1907

Initiation service of the Honorary Scholarship Society, Cum Laude, with an address by Harold Willis Dodds, LL.D., Ph.D., Litt.D., President, Princeton University.

This society aims to bestow that recognition upon high scholarship in the preparatory schools which the Phi Beta Kappa Society gives to it in the colleges. A scholastic average of 85% is required for election.

These members of the Class of 1937 were elected to membership in the Cum Laude Society on the basis of their superior scholarship in all subjects for their Senior year.

ACTIVITIES

THE P. A. Musical Clubs completed another thoroughly successful season, directed by Dr. Pfatteicher and Mr. Clark. The success of such a satisfactory year cannot be passed over without mention of the efforts of Mr. Guy Eaton, who effectively aided Dr. Pfatteicher and the officers in carrying through the full schedule.

The Glee Club, with a large enrollment of eighty-five, sang not only classical anthems but also modern compositions which were heard by appreciative audiences. The first concert of the year was held at Rogers Hall with a dance following. Later in the winter term, the Musical Clubs entertained Rogers Hall here at a mid-winter formal dance. At the Annual Christmas Service, a capacity audience was moved by the Choir's rendition of some of the joyful carols of the Christmas Season. The orchestra, augmented by a group of musicians from neighboring Abbot Academy, made the final contribution to this, the climax of the fall term.

Early in the winter term, the Glee Club with the Bradford Junior College Chorus held a joint concert which proved to be one of the highlights of the year. The concert was very well received and all the members enjoyed themselves under Bradford hospitality. One of the services in the increasingly popular series of Winter Vespers was given over to the combined choirs of Abbot and Phillips Academies and was enjoyed by a gratifyingly large assembly of worshippers. Another program was presented later with the Brooks School Choir. The most outstanding concert was presented by the Andover and Exeter Glee Clubs. Each organization rendered several choice numbers and then united for a thrilling grand finale. The annual Beaver Country Day School concert was a highly successful affair and was heard by a large audience. A dance followed this concert.

The band increased in number and spirit and vigorously supported the Blue with its music, whipping up the fighting spirit of the school at all the important athletic rallies and contests. Mr. Clark improved the band's marching tempo considerably, adding appreciably to the effect of Andover's display at Exeter.

The orchestra, which played at many of the concerts, improved much under Dr. Pfatteicher's excellent training and certainly brought due credit to its director.

The student officers of the Club were Richard Mayo, William Middlebrook, Bradford Wright, and James Price.

UNDER the presidency of Mark Lawrence the Dramatic Club had a very successful year. Three weeks after the beginning of the winter term the cast was settled. Two weeks later Mr. Cochran was persuaded to undertake the direction of the play, and he immediately put great enthusiasm into his task, with admirable results. His work, however, was considerably handicapped by the fact that it was very seldom that the whole cast managed to be present for the same rehearsal.

The play itself, Cock Robin by Elmer Rice and Philip Barry, was hard to direct in that it was partly a play within a play. The first part of the second act was technically hard to produce, but Mr. Cochran overcame this difficulty and many others. Mark Lawrence, in the lead role, was outstanding and it was largely his experience that held the cast together in some of the harder scenes. Ray Murphy and Bill Ennis made a great success in two of the female parts and the experience that they gained this year augurs well for the future of the Dramatic Club. Lawrence Viney, an English exchange student, who was elected vice-president of the Dramatic Club, helped greatly in the successful production of the play.

The stage crew under the direction of Mr. Hallowell and Charles Dearborn, provided an excellent set and they proved themselves masters at changing the scene between Acts 1 and 2. The lighting effects by Hunter Marston received credit from all, and W. D. Jones, the property manager, succeeded in forgetting no props and in firing the guns at the right time.

The play was produced on Saturday, April 23rd, in George Washington Hall before a packed house. It was generally agreed that the performance was quite creditable, and that the entire cast was to be congratulated on their skillful acting.

The business managers, Friedkin and Bentley, managed the financial side of the production with considerable skill and they produced a program on new and different lines.

SINCE the advent of the debating room in Bulfinch Hall, an ever-increasing interest has been shown in the activities of the Philomathean Society. Larger numbers of the student body have thronged into Philo's new sanctum each successive Wednesday evening, so that recently, it has not been unusual to find many standing. Through the efforts of the president, George Goethals, particular interest has been stimulated in the members of the Upper and Lower Middle classes, for it is in their hands that the future of the club rests. The informative and highly interesting debates carried on during the course of the debating tournament have been partially responsible for the increased activity. As in former years, the Oregon system, in which there is one constructive speech, a five-minute questioning period, and a rebuttal, has been used exclusively in the tournaments. Through efficient handling of the contests, the actual enrollment of the Society has mounted steadily. Still another factor in spurring on the interest in these tournaments has been the prize offered by Dr. Fuess.

Stimulated by a Phillipian editorial, calling attention to the open Forums active in many other schools, Faculty supervisor Higgins and President Goethals called together a committee, made up of Whitelaw, C. Davis and other men interested in this activity, to form a Political Union. According to their plan this Union met on Wednesday nights. In this organization the chairman recognized speakers from the two parties, arbitrarily termed conservative and liberal. Two speakers for each party presented the general stand of their side, after which discussions were thrown open, so that anyone might debate or question one of the speakers.

A subsidiary of Philo, under the direction of Mr. Allis, is the debating team. With a squad made up of Garnett, Goethals, Friedkin, Fleischer, Broderick, England, Mayo, D. Williams, and Furman, a schedule was followed including Middlesex, Deerfield, Harvard '41, Dartmouth '41, Yale '41, and Exeter.

SOCIETY OF INQUIRY

C.F.F.

FOR one hundred and four years the Society of Inquiry has carried on active service in Phillips Academy. Since that time, the Society has changed a great deal in its purpose and type of work, but throughout these years it has kept one fundamental principle: the encouraging and strengthening of Christian ideals in the school.

To carry out this program, the Society has diverged somewhat from the plan of several years before. Instead of trying to organize formal meetings of large numbers of boys, when the speaker merely gives a talk on some aspect of religion and answers a few questions, the Society has formed small informal discussion groups led by visiting speakers. The first of these discussions was held with Mr. Stuart Tweedie of Edinburgh, Scotland. Dr. Guthrie Speers and Dr. Erdman Harris also met small groups and discussed some of the vital and important questions of religion as we see it today, and along with these men were such noted lecturers as Leslie Glenn, Rabbi Beryl Cohon of the Temple Israel, Boston, Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, and Mr. Patrick Malin. The Hampton Quartet from the Hampton Institute for Negroes was also obtained by the Society to sing some of their negro spirituals for the student body.

Another part of the program maintained by the Society is that of managing the P. A. Charities Drive. This year, under the very efficient direction of secretary-treasurer, John Finch, and president, Charles Dearborn, the unusually large objective of $2700 was reached and increased to $2800, the largest amount of money ever collected by the Society. This money was distributed in accordance with the decisions of the Executive Board to support such organizations as the American Red Cross, the Hampton Institute, the Grenfell Mission in Labrador, the Andover Guild, and also to make possible two scholarships for Andover students. Along with this work a reception was held at the first of the school year to welcome all the new men. A great deal of credit for the success of this organization is due to Mr. Baldwin, the faculty advisor, for his invaluable aid in assisting the Board in the handling of its affairs.

SEVERAL years ago Mr. Peterkin and certain students felt the need of forming some organization to unite the scattered men in school awaiting the opportunity to express their varied literary interests. The Clay Pipe Club was organized on the basis of good-fellowship of congenial men possessing a genuine mutual interest in the good things of literature. A spacious room secured in the Phillips Club building was placed at the disposal of the members, who Sunday afternoons often engaged in informal discussions on literary subjects and prepared papers for the gathering.

The Club subscribed to a number of the best magazines and newspapers, both American and British. These with a collection of good books remained available at all times to members desiring to improve a spare hour with enjoyable reading. Last year the rapidly expanding Music Department took over the Phillips Club space, forcing the Clay Pipe to move elsewhere. Thenceforth it never thrived. Although with the election of several more to its membership this fall, a faithful remnant held several meetings in a Peabody House room, it became apparent that the circle must inevitably die unless provided with a suitable meeting place of its own. The best discussion of all, led by Mr. Poynter and Mr. James on Scandinavian Co-operatives, was attended largely by masters. Convinced that their structure had outlived its usefulness, and unable to find more desirable quarters, the body reluctantly voted to disband itself, but not before achieving in some measure the purpose for which it was founded. It set out to bring about a greater interest in literature, and in its few years of existence, many lesser bodies arose which will now carry on in its stead. Speakers are supplied by the Society of Inquiry and some teachers have formed small literary circles of their own to read plays, and more especially to consider contemporary literature and current events. Thus the Clay Pipe Club disappears from the Hill, successful in its original purpose, an organization whose banner will be carried for many years by the widely separate groups replacing it.

THE Outing Club started in September with a record enrollment of seventy men, filled with enthusiasm and high hopes for the coming year. The club was organized without delay and the officers installed: John Rowbotham, President; Frank Reinhart, Secretary; Charles Esty, Director of Trips; Preston Coursen, Manager of Skiing.

Messrs. Minard and Sanborn accompanied the members on the two day excursions in the Fall. The first trip was to Kennebunkport on the Maine coast. The other expedition was to Joe English Hill in New Hampshire—a favorite spot which the club had visited in the past. This year, the gorgeous fall colors enhanced its beauty. The one week-end trip of the term was to Franconia Notch in New Hampshire's White Mountains. The expedition offered some difficult climbing to the club's mountaineers, and was agreed by all to have been a fine success. The final trip of the term was made to the Boston Garden to see the annual winter sports carnival. All returned with enthusiasm kindled for the anticipated skiing of the coming winter. A small group sacrificed several afternoons a week to prepare the ski trails. The ski-shop in Johnson Hall, available to all members for repairing equipment proved to be a great convenience. The officers of the club were equipped to patrol the trails.

After last year's disappointment, all rejoiced to find superb snow conditions on returning from the Christmas holidays. Immediately, skiing was started and enjoyed by a great number of fellows. Under the auspices of the club, Erling Strom, ski-instructor at Lake Placid, lectured in George Washington Hall, and described in a fascinating way his thrilling conquest on skis of Mount McKinley, Alaska, the highest single peak in North America. This lecture was the highlight of a season which every member agreed was a notable success, and, in the main, the direct result of the efforts of Mr. Minard and Mr. Sanborn.

CAMERA CLUB

GETTING under way for its sixth season with a record membership of sixty-two, the Camera Club began this year by purchasing a large amount of new equipment. Foremost in this was a fine miniature enlarger. To give still more encouragement, successful exchange exhibits were held with other schools—Governor Dummer, Lawrenceville, Brooks, and Exeter. A salon in the Addison Gallery brought to light several promising photographs, although the number entered was small. Encouraged by last year's experience, the club decided to continue the annual Spring Salon, held during Commencement Week, with prizes awarded for the best prints exhibited.

Throughout the year informal talks have been given by members of the faculty on all the aspects of photography, and several of the students themselves have lectured on the phases of the subject in which they are most interested. But the bulk of the work has been handled by Mr. Benedict, founder and faculty advisor, who, through print criticisms and discussions, has touched most of the problems confronting the amateur.

Profiting by last year's experience, a new and better illustrated calendar was published and all seven hundred and fifty copies sold. The proceeds will go toward further equipping the dark room. There has been much discussion concerning a new dark room to supplement the original and give the members more time to work, for this year each person has been allowed only three hours a week. Although there are no definite plans, ideas are slowly emerging, and before long this hope may be realized.

By far the most important single event this year was the adoption of a constitution. The new constitution states completely each officer's duties and provides for the necessary committees. In order to take care of the growing amount of work, a treasurer was elected to take over some of the secretary-treasurer's duties. With the growing interest in photography and the continual addition of new and better equipment, the Camera Club seems to be fast becoming a permanent institution on Andover Hill.

RADIO CLUB

AT the beginning of the fall term the Radio Club started out handicapped by a lack of returning members and equipment sadly in need of repair. When new members were initiated, a true interest in the club and its activities in the field of radio soon developed. The equipment was overhauled and the club entered into its thirteenth year of existence with new vigor.

President Friedman began a course in the basic theory of radio and in the International Code for the less experienced members. The object of this instruction aimed to enable each member to obtain an amateur license. The course began to produce results rapidly, since it aroused the active interest of the members by establishing a definite goal to be achieved. After the installation of the new equipment, the first station contacted was GM8HP in Shropshire, Scotland. Following this there were numerous contacts with Australia, South Africa, and all the countries of Eastern Europe. Messages were exchanged and some very interesting conversations took place.

Because of the many floods in New England last year, the Radio Club decided to take steps to aid the community by joining a network of affiliated amateur emergency stations in all parts of New England. As yet no real work has been done in this direction, but it is hoped that the club will be able to render real service if and when such a crisis arises.

BIRD-BANDING CLUB

THE Bird-Banding Club is operated in connection with the Biological Survey in Washington which supplies bands free in return for the members' services in furnishing data. Every year twenty-five or more birds which have been absent for more than three months revisit their old nests and are recaptured. The numbers on the bands of these so-called "returns" are promptly sent in to the Survey. In turn, notices are sent back from Washington of the recapture of birds bearing the Andover bands reported from other points, as far distant as the Southern States or South America.

In 1931 the Andover Bird-Banding Station was founded by two students, its membership increasing to five and then to eight in the two succeeding years. A drop to six members preceded the club's first rise to prominence in the 1935-36 season, when twelve active workers started the organization on a sound basis. Last year was a memorable one for the Bird-Banders, for it saw the removal of the shack from its old location, occasioned by the erection of the Faculty Houses. This was a fortunate occurrence since the new site proved to be more favorable than the old. This year, also, Mr. Higgins, the faculty advisor, resigned his post and Mr. Boyle took over.

This year with several returning members and some new additions the club has functioned very well indeed. All the men have accepted responsibility and have been faithful in attending the traps. The traps continue to be kept open all winter, offering the only means of subsistence to starving birds which find grain within when the ground is covered with snow and ice. The station is established on an informal basis, with two officers who call meetings, buy new traps when necessary, and check to see that the members keep their hours.

IN 1928 a group of undergraduates formed a branch of the Toc H society in Andover. This organization progressed from year to year, but, away from England, where Toc H was founded, it soon became apparent that the Andover chapter had drifted away from the other branches in respect to certain technical details.

From this Toc H group emerged Circle A in 1935. The latter is composed primarily of boys who wish to apply their religion, whatever creed it be, to their daily life. The members have taken for their special endeavor the help of their own community in any way they can, but the organization also helps people outside of Andover. Each term the boys collect old clothes, books, magazines, and victrola records from the school to give to the Red Cross, nearby prisons, and veterans' hospitals. At Thanksgiving, Circle A distributed baskets of provisions to some of the needier families in the community, while at Christmas time some of the members sell seals for the prevention of tuberculosis. This fall, Circle A sponsored a sale of articles from the Grenfell Mission, its proceeds going to help the praiseworthy work of Sir Wilfred Grenfell in Labrador.

The members of Circle A help the community, some by teaching Sunday schools or by working with different scout organizations in the town, others by helping at the Andover Guild. The Guild offers to many of the less fortunate children of Andover opportunities to play organized games and enjoy the facilities of a gymnasium. By working there without pay, the boys in Circle A enable the management of the Guild to do more with its meagre funds than would be possible if it had to hire extra social workers.

Membership in Circle A is open to anyone attending the meetings regularly and manifesting a continued interest in its work.

BLUE BOOK

Editor-in-Chief	Charles Donovan
Business Manager (1939)	Richard G. Mintz

THE Blue Book, published annually, is the pocket manual of general information for the Andover student. This small book contains school rules and all essential knowledge about its activities and traditions. It is an indispensable guide to the bewildered "prep," strange to his surroundings, and lost in a maze of buildings.

While the contents of the Blue Book remain much the same from year to year, the gradual improvement in the quantity and accuracy of its material has been so great that the 1937-38 edition is a veritable condensed World Almanac in comparison with the first volume published sixteen years ago. The current issue contains, among many other things, the Faculty list, words of welcome to newcomers, general advice from the Headmaster, and campus regulations, in addition to full data on sports, publications, honor rolls, clubs and fraternities,—even office hours, railroad time-tables, fire-alarms, and a list of town churches. Last but not least, the school songs and cheers deserve special mention because of their oft-proved value to new men, who cannot find this necessary information printed elsewhere.

Twenty pages in the back of the Blue Book are reserved for advertising and by this means it has remained possible to distribute the book gratis to every undergraduate. Publication is entirely in the hands of the students. This year C. Donovan was Editor-in-Chief, D. Ferguson, Assistant Editor. Richard Mintz acted as Business Manager. Competition for the editorial board is open only to the Upper Middlers, whereas both Lower and Uppers may compete for the business board. The two winners for these competitions are elected Editor and Business Manager respectively.

AT the onset of the sixtieth year of publication the Phillipian editors found it hard to maintain the high standards set by their predecessors. But as their journalistic careers rolled on, they discovered themselves fast becoming accomplished in the task of printing a semi-weekly paper. On emerging from a year of labor the editors reviewed their work finding the Phillipian very much as before in character and in news interest.

As for editorial policy, it has been the aim of the Phillipian to bring to the students the outside news which would have some bearing on their thinking and their future. For this purpose the "Here and There" column was a feature retained under the supervision of Frank Campion. To satisfy the interest in the inevitable campus gossip and news, "This Andover" was taken over and very ably managed by Mark Lawrence. The editorials, which Editor-in-Chief Davis either wrote himself or personally directed, dealt with an unusually wide range of subjects, varying from one in opposition to the New York World's Fair to several pleading for a recognition and appreciation of the value of a liberal education. The column of sport comment entitled "Sport Shots" flourished successfully under the guidance of Charles Tower.

Keeping apace and oftentimes ahead of the editorial board was a splendid business board headed by George H. Partridge, III. At the beginning of the winter term, Peter Strauss was elected assistant business manager. Throughout the year a good volume of advertising was obtained, aided by many national as well as local advertisers. A theatre page in the fall and a winter-vacationland page the following term were arranged by the enterprising business board.

At the end of the winter term Frank Campion and Peter Strauss were elected respectively editor-in-chief and business manager for 1938-39.

Recognition must be given for the valuable aid of the printers, Smith and Coutts, without whose coöperation the Phillipian could never have been published regularly.

FOLLOWING the policy adopted by last year's editor, C. A. Wood, The Mirror has continued to include in each issue as great a representation of the writings of the student body as possible. Under the leadership of Editor-in-Chief William F. Havemeyer and Managing Editors Friedkin and Furman, a new system of judging the manuscripts was devised, whereby each contribution is read by at least four members of the Literary Board, so that an author has a reasonable chance of receiving fair criticism of his work. Under this revised method, no paper is rejected or printed by the Editor without careful comparison with the written opinions of at least four Board members. This year again, The Mirror has printed the winners in such literary contests as the Means Essay, in addition to conducting its own contest each issue. Dr. Fuess was the donor of the ten-dollar prize for the best article in each issue.

Much has been done in the business department as well. Because of the plan of increased representation that Ex-Editor Wood inaugurated, circulation has greatly increased. The subscription rates for outside subscribers have gone up, and advertisers are paying more for their space, nevertheless, the amount of advertising space bought in 1938 was almost twice that of any previous year. Thanks to Business Manager Coursen and his board, the Editorial Board has been in a position to enlarge the magazine and include more of a variety of student literature than was before possible.

Another great advancement has been made by the Exchange Board, under the direction of Damon Carter. The number of schools carrying on exchanges with the Mirror has doubled and a shelf in the library has been secured for these magazines.

An increasing number of illustrations and art work generally have gone into each succeeding issue, and the Art Board with Lyford as Editor, has assumed an important role in the production of the Mirror. The Headmaster's Prize of ten dollars for the best design drawn for the cover of each issue has stimulated much artistic effort on behalf of The Mirror.

THE 1938 POT POURRI has been designed primarily as a transitional book. It has been the idea of the editors to make all the improvements possible in this edition and to break away from the perpetual train of one stereotyped book after another. Perhaps the most striking of the changes is the new cover which is in keeping with the modern trend in the better college yearbooks. In order to increase the attractiveness of the book, this year no advertisements have been allowed in the front of the POT POURRI; instead a pictorial opening section, climaxed by a Rockwell Kent drawing, has been inserted. An attempt to give the photography more meaning and life has been made in the new parody section. Throughout a modern type has been used and several novel layouts have been introduced.

Much credit should go to Hunter Marston who, in his post as business manager, has worked hard to increase the circulation and to obtain advertisers in spite of the business recession. Tim Ireland, as managing editor, took over the job of procuring the senior pictures, and shared most other tasks with the editor.

Gordon Kent, as art editor, has this year produced drawings for which we believe he deserves credit because of their originality and skillful execution. Sports Editor Keller and Activities Editor Thomas have also been of great help and have taken over considerable responsibility.

To the Andover Press for their extreme patience and coöperation we extend our heartiest thanks. Especially Mr. Harold Johnson of that organization is to be praised for the close personal supervision he has given to the publication of this book. Throughout the year the faculty advisors, Mr. Leonard and Mr. Hopper, have shown much interest and have helped the POT POURRI staff very much. This year, for the first time, Mr. Cookson has been the official photographer and has taken excellent pictures. To everyone concerned in the making of the 1938 POT POURRI we offer our thanks for their coöperation and effort.

ATHLETICS

ALTHOUGH potentially strengthened by the return of thirteen lettermen, the football team had a difficult task ahead of it last fall—that of living up to the precedent set by the unbeaten, untied 1936 team. The majority of the returning lettermen were backs, moreover, and, there was a wide gap left in the center of the line on account of the loss of guards Kiputh and Craft. With the same excellent coaching staff, headed by Mr. Shepard, a strong team was developed, which despite reverses at the hands of the Yale and Tufts Freshmen, went on to win a well deserved victory over the Red and Gray.

Starting off with a schedule identical to last year's, the Blue met and defeated with great ease an inferior New Hampshire Freshman team 32-6. The following Saturday the squad traveled down to New Haven, only to be turned back by an exceptionally powerful Yale Freshman team 21-6. This was the first trip the squad had made in two seasons, and therefore it is reasonable to guess that the outcome might have been closer had the game been played at Andover. The Blue's lone tally came as the result of Tine's 65-yard run late in the fourth period. In her next game Andover crushed a surprisingly weak Northeastern Freshman team 27-6, a game climaxed by the running of Harrison and Gould. The following week saw a much closer game, with the Harvard Freshmen, which Andover won 7-6 in the pouring rain. The next two contests were looked forward to as comparatively easy games. The Bowdoin Freshmen were turned back 12-0 in the first, but an over-confident Blue team lost 7-6 to the Tufts Freshmen in the second.

Faced with the fact that they had never been victorious in Exeter's Plimpton Stadium, a favored Blue team met the Red and Gray on November 13. In the pouring rain Exeter got off to an early lead by scoring twice in the first quarter. Things began to look better for Andover when the team tallied in the next period, but the half ended with Exeter leading 15-7, due to a beautiful field-goal by Captain Bowersox. Primarily due to the combined efforts of Tine and Gould, Andover scored once in the third period and finally again in the last, thus winning 20-15.

Largely through the able leadership of Captain Rafferty and the competent managership of Churchward Davis was such a spirited and well organized team turned out in the 1937 season. At the football banquet John Murphy was elected captain and John Pulleyn manager for the 1938 team.

BASEBALL

MR. DONOVAN, as the new baseball coach at Andover, started winter practice last February with over sixty candidates, led by Captain Harrison and several other lettermen. Aided by Coaches Follansbee and Sorota, intensive drills were held in the cage, and by the beginning of the spring term, the squad was narrowed to thirty of the most promising candidates. Veterans Harrison and Phelan were assisted on the mound by Chase, Riege, and Cain. O'Brien and Dudan again held their positions at short and second base respectively, while Bill Hart, a promising Lower, took over third. Peters was found once more in the outfield, ably supported by Walsh, of last year's second team, Kubie and Blanchard; and Welch took over the empty catcher's position.

Joe Phelan started the season by holding Thayer Academy to four runs while his teammates scored ten. Chase and Harrison downed the Town Team 10-9, and the following Wednesday St. Mark's fell easily 9-0 at Southboro. The next Saturday saw one of the best games ever witnessed on the hill. In a thrilling pitchers' duel Harrison triumphed over Smokey Joe Wood of the Yale Freshmen by the score of 1-0, the winning run being made by Dudan on a timely hit by O'Brien. Each pitcher chalked up 14 strikeouts and allowed only four hits.

Phelan and Chase then bowed to the Brown Freshmen and the New Hampshire Yearlings 7-3 and 3-2 respectively. Travelling to Deerfield, the Blue ably supported Captain Harrison in a 10-1 triumph. Hyde Park bowed 9-3 and Harrison's almost perfect pitching brought a 5-2 victory over the Harvard Fresh. Phelan and Chase then shut out the Tufts Yearlings 2-0. In the Tilton game Harrison received a leg injury which put him out temporarily. Chase finished the game, winning 6-2.

Losing the last two games before the Exeter game without Harrison, the Blue's position was not very encouraging. However, Harrison returned, and in the Exeter contest the team played as they did in the Yale game, winning 3-2. This was Captain Harrison's last game for Andover, and he was the outstanding star, allowing only five hits while "fanning" 14 members of the Red and Grey. To this record he added a home run with Bergfors and Peters on base, one of the longest hits ever made on Brothers Field. Then, with the bases loaded in the ninth inning, he struck out the last batter to give Andover and himself the third consecutive victory over Exeter. Captain Harrison and Manager Reinhart are to be congratulated on their excellent work in their respective capacities during the 1938 season.

TRACK

WITH a nucleus of only five returning lettermen—Co-Captains Day and Murphy; Gould, Falconer, and Jackson—Coach Shepard and his staff faced a difficult problem in the 1938 track season. As the season progressed, however, the team greatly improved, and at the end of the season, it had rounded into an excellent unit.

In the first meet with the Bowdoin Junior Varsity Andover met defeat by a 76-50 score. The following Saturday Andover again suffered defeat, this time at the hands of the Harvard Freshmen. This meet was very much closer than the previous one and marked improvement was seen in the Andover team. Pirnie, Seymour, and Murphy all turned in outstanding performances, scoring 23 points among them.

The Yale Freshmen dealt the Blue a heavy blow as they defeated the team by a score of 78-48. More encouraging was the trouncing administered to Worcester Academy the following Saturday. Andover scored 83 points to Worcester's 30.

Expecting a very close score against the Dartmouth Freshmen, the Andover supporters were somewhat disappointed the following Saturday, for the squad from Hanover scored 70 points to Andover's 56. Here Murphy again turned in an excellent performance, winning both hurdles while Day took first in the hammer.

The week before the Exeter meet, Andover won the Harvard Interscholastics at Cambridge by barely defeating Mercersburg by the score 42-41½. Once again Gould stood out, taking a first in the broad jump and a second in the high jump, while Jackson took seconds in the javelin and broad jump. The high point of the day, however, came when Andover, trailing Mercersburg by 8½ points, took first and second in the 220 low hurdles as Crispell won from Murphy by inches.

On May 28, Andover met Exeter at Exeter and trounced the Red and Gray by a score of 82-44. Seymour was the star of the day winning both the 440 and the 220.

With the Exeter meet, the Andover track season came to an end. Although the team started rather slowly, it took shape remarkably well as the season progressed, and finished by winning both the Harvard Interscholastics and the Exeter contest. Praise is due to the coaches and Co-Captains Day and Murphy for leading the team from what seemed one of the darkest years to the successes it finally attained.

SOCCER

UNDER the tutelage of experienced Jim Ryley, for 26 years its brilliantly successful coach, Andover's soccer team strode through another victorious season with four victories and two ties, capped by a 1-0 win over a powerful Exeter group.

With fast, wiry Marshall Scott as captain, the team produced some excellent players such as Reader, Coursen, Furber, Parker, Conant, Lawrence, and Bergfors, and was augmented by many others playing varsity soccer for the first time. Notable among the newcomers was Theo Hagedorn, German exchange student, who became one of the most important factors in the decided success which marked an outstanding year for the team.

Strong was the beginning made by Andover's booters, as they met and decisively defeated Dean Academy's team, 6-0. Hagedorn, who scored three of the six goals, provided keen excitement when on the starting kick-off, on an assist from Kent, he kicked the ball 50 yards down the field for a goal. Every year in the soccer schedule the date with Worcester is a dreaded one, and this year proved no exception, for after a stiff match the score remained 0-0.

To chalk up a third victory, Andover's soccer men played through a driving rain on the Old Campus to defeat Tabor 5-0. A factor in the result was the return of Captain Marshall Scott who, bedridden for three weeks, had been unable to play.

Climaxing this season of victory, the Exeter game came as a crowning point. Early in the first quarter, Andover's reliable Hagedorn broke through a strong defense and provided the only score of the game. This game was not an easy one, however, for Exeter, revengeful after a series of previous defeats, was panther-like in her attempts to achieve victory. Lowell, goalie for the Blue, aided by Lawrence and Parker starred for the winners and Captain Scott, Goadinez, Reader, Bergfors, Heidrich, Spaulding, and Coursen were likewise outstanding in Andover's line-up.

Completing his twenty-sixth year as soccer coach, Jim Ryley performed another excellent job in producing an undefeated team. Especially helpful throughout the year in his capacity as captain, Marshall Scott performed admirably. To Manager Worthy Adams goes much credit for his effort in the 1937 season.

At the annual soccer banquet, held at the log cabin following the Exeter game, R. D. Conant was elected to head next year's team, and John Blum to manage it.

HOCKEY

STARTING his third season as coach of the Andover hockey team, Mr. Knight had six returning lettermen, led by Mort Furber, around whom to build his team. Excellent ice conditions enabled all but three of the scheduled games to be played, with the Harvard Freshmen and Exeter contests taking place at the Boston Arena.

Again this year, the latter days of the Christmas vacation were spent at Lake Placid, where the Andover team participated in a preparatory school tournament, playing three games but winning only from Williston, while losing to Morrystown and Nichols. The team looked promising, however, and much practice was obtained.

Fresh from this workout, the Blue met and defeated Medford High School, 3-1, on the home rink the first Wednesday of the Winter term. Here, as at Lake Placid, Andover's pucksters were slow in starting, and no goals were made until the last half of the game. The following Wednesday, the stickmen met the superior Harvard sextet in the Arena, where the yearlings netted seven goals and held the Blue scoreless.

In the next contest, the team played excellent hockey, trouncing Lawrence Academy, 7-0. They showed much improvement over the previous match and exhibited the best stickwork and shooting of the entire season. Next, Noble and Greenough fell to Andover by a 3-4 count, on ice that was almost water. The following week, the tables were turned, and a hard-fighting Blue team bowed to St. Mark's by the score of 3-2, in a fast, close game. Following this New Hampshire bowed, 3-1, but the forward line was slow in starting and several chances for tallies were missed.

Lack of ice left the Blue out of practice for the Exeter contest in the Boston Arena on February 12. Going into the game with the odds four to one against them, the Andover squad put up a stiff fight. Exeter, however, emerged victorious with four goals to the one scored by Bill Pike of Andover. Throughout the game Exeter showed more speed and more accurate passing facts, which accounted for their tallies.

Because so many of this year's team were seniors, a Jayvee squad, composed entirely of Upper and Lower Middlers was organized, and practice held on the small rink. Games were played with Exeter and the faculty, and there were frequent scrimmages with the Varsity which gave them valuable experience throughout the season. At the annual dinner, Alan Foster and Peter Strauss were elected to fill the positions of captain and manager for 1939. Much credit must go to Captain Furber and Manager Bentley for their services in their respective capacities during the 1938 season.

SWIMMING

THIS year with the loss of captain-elect Howard and only five returning letter men, Hardwicke, Kendall, Price, Heidrich, and Stevenson, Coach Dake's prospects were not encouraging; furthermore, with the exception of Cochran in the dive, no new material augmented the team. Mr. Dake, nevertheless, managed to produce from the past year's club and varsity squads a competent team which steadily improved. At a meeting held early in the year Hardwicke, a star back-stroker, was elected to the position of captain.

The first meet of the year with Gardner High School ended in a 39 to 27 victory for the Blue, with the relay teams showing up very well. In the next meet, however, with the Dartmouth Freshmen, Andover bowed to its opponents by the margin of 40 to 26. Armstrong of Dartmouth won the meet almost single handed with a 52-second hundred and a 23-second anchor leg on the relay.

The next week the Yale Freshmen came to the hill with a strong team which trounced the Blue natators by a score of 37 to 29. Several former Andover men starred for Yale, including Metcalf who made a splendid showing by breaking the pool record in the breaststroke. Three days later in a closely contested meet, characterized by close finishes, Andover barely defeated Worcester 34 to 32.

Andover then dealt a crushing defeat to an inferior Huntington team by the large score of 56 to 10.

Ten days later the Harvard Freshmen showed their strength by defeating the Blue by the score of 38 to 28. As usual, Kendall made a brilliant showing, and the meet was decided by a close finish in the relay.

In their final meet with Exeter, Andover lost, only by the very close score of 34 to 32. Hardwicke, Heidrich and Kendall showed up extremely well, and the meet was decided once again by a closely contested relay. Out of eight events, Andover's mermen won five. Particular praise must go to Jack Pulley who defeated the Exeter star, Sherb Carter in the 50-yard freestyle. At the annual banquet Greer Hardwicke was re-elected captain, and Robert Patteson was elected manager. Greer Hardwicke and Hunter Marston are both to be commended on the excellent work they have done in their positions during the 1938 season.

BASKETBALL

AFTER the first few days of practice, Coach DiClementi found he had many promising players in the 1938 basketball turnout. Beside four of last year's letter men, led by Captain Mayo, there was good material both from the 1937 Pony Squad and from newcomers to basketball at Andover.

In the season's opener, a hard-fought contest with Tilton, the P.A. team just managed to eke out a winning margin. At the next clash though, the team, functioning rather poorly, bowed to a snappy Tufts Freshmen quintet. The following game with the Harvard Jayvees produced much fine playing, especially by Captain Mayo and Dudan. The result, however, was a heart-breaking defeat by one point.

Other indication of the squad's improvement were the 38-18 drubbing it handed the Northeastern Freshmen and an easy win over Lawrence Academy during the next week. In both of these contests Dudan's consistent shooting was responsible for a great many points. The following Saturday in a seesaw battle our men again showed their worth, this time by coming within a hairbreadth of vanquishing the powerful Yale Freshmen, who numbered among their players three former Andover stars.

The next contest, a spectacular one, saw our forces pushing a 20-16 victory over on the Harvard yearlings. Worcester, however, the team's next foe, was just able to win by virtue of a last-minute basket. Captain Mayo and his teammates soon redeemed themselves though, by crushing Governor Dummer. In the next to last game of the season, the Blue, paced by Smith, easily downed the M.I.T. Freshmen, thus serving notice that they were well primed for the clash with Exeter.

Although comparative records favored the Exonians to win, it was a real fight from start to finish. The Red and Gray jumped into the lead in the first few minutes, but as the game progressed, Andover made a supreme effort and pulled up to their rivals, only to be outdistanced in the closing moments of play.

Even though the season may not at first glance appear impressive, the team won half its games on the tough schedule and was never far behind at the final whistle. Coach DiClementi, Captain Mayo, Manager Rogge, and the squad deserve much praise for their contribution to basketball at Phillips Academy during 1938.

At the annual banquet, Peter Dudan, who was so spectacular in the Exeter game, was chosen captain and Fred Gile, manager for next year's team.

WRESTLING

SUPPORTED by the return of three lettermen, Captain Middlebrook, Garvan, and Day, Coach Carlson turned out an outstanding wrestling team. Except for the loss of the Harvard Freshman meet by a very close margin, the Blue retained a perfect record.

In the initial contest, Andover defeated Haverhill High School by a score of 27-3. In this meet, the Blue won every match but one, with Garvan and Bird pinning their men. In the second encounter, with North Quincy High, the team was held to a 12-12 draw. This well-earned deadlock came as a result of Johnnie Day's second consecutive win in the heavyweight class. The next victim was the Tufts Freshman team which lost by a 26-6 count. In this meet, Garvan, Middlebrook, and Bird, successfully pinned their men while Johnnie Day scored his third straight decision. The Milton Academy team followed on the heels of the Tufts yearlings, with a 25-5 loss. In this encounter, Bird again scored a pin, bringing his total score to eighteen points, while Tine, putting in his first appearance, also threw his man.

Andover faced the Harvard Freshmen, who almost invariably provide the hardest opposition of the season, with a new heavyweight, Art Horwitz, whom Coach Carlson brought up from the clubs. In this important contest, which the Crimson won, 16-14, Bird won his fifth consecutive match and Somerville and Tine scored pins. After this meet, the Blue defeated Quincy High School, which had previously defeated Exeter. In this contest, which Andover won by the score of 27½-4½, Bird again won his match, while Lindsay and Sherman also pinned their opponents.

As the Exeter contest drew near, Bird led the team with a score of twenty-six points, and was undoubtedly the most outstanding member of the squad, since he was both clever and powerful. Andover won this crucial contest by the score of 13½-11½. Horwitz had gained much experience by his defeat at Harvard, and he went ahead to win his match.

Middlebrook proved to be an excellent captain, ably leading his team. Credit should also go to Manager Dave Williams for the time and effort which he put into his position.

John Garvan, who has wrestled very successfully for two years in the 118-pound class, was chosen captain of next year's team.

LACROSSE

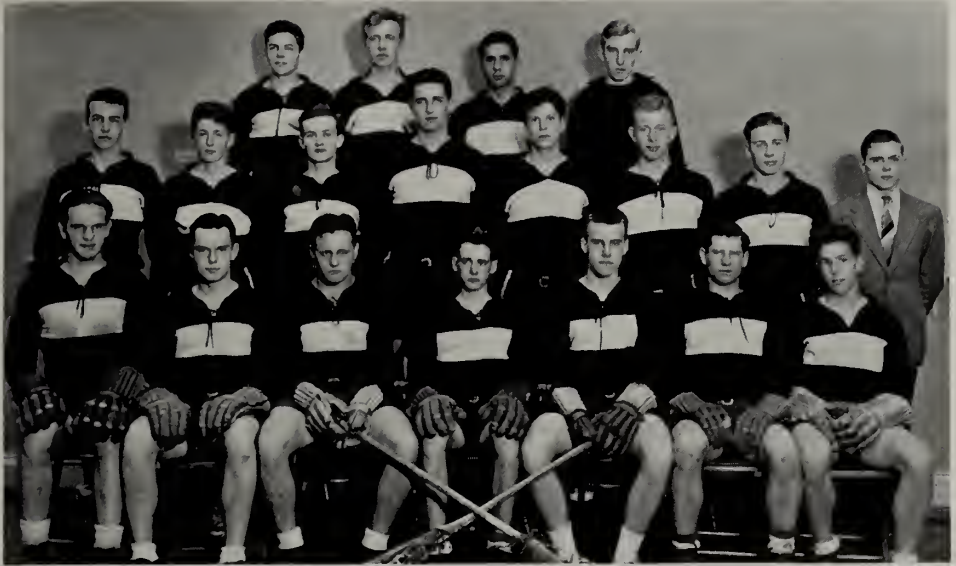

WITH about half of last year's squad returning, and good prospects among the new players, Andover's stickmen expected and achieved a better than average season, winning all of their eight games except the first and last. The backbone of the team was formed by veterans, Captain Marshall, Sosman, Macomber, Sherman, and Richards. Supplemented by Campion, Fergusson, Tine, and Ritts, playing their first year of Varsity Lacrosse at Andover, an imposing and formidable team was formed.

As has been the custom, the first game was played with the Boston Lacrosse Club. The Boston team proved too much for the Andover boys, who had not yet reached top form, as they won the encounter 8-4. The next opponents were the Harvard Freshmen who were defeated to the tune of 10-3. The following game with the Dartmouth Yearlings was one of the season's closest, the Blue coming through to a 2-1 triumph. Andover won the next four games in a row from the Tufts Fresh, Harvard Jayvees, Governor Dummer, and Worcester, all by large margins.

In view of this impressive record, Andover entered the Exeter game with great hopes of winning for the first time since the series started, in 1934. Paced by Marshall, the Blue tallied four times in the first period, while the Red did not score once on goalie Ritts. The second frame ended after each team had scored once, making the ledger read 5-1 for Andover. In this first half Marshall netted three goals, while Sosman and Campion poked one apiece past the Exeter goalie. The second half, unfortunately, told an entirely different story. The Exeter team launched an amazing spurt and scored three times before mid-period. This third frame was not entirely without its bright spots, because Sosman tallied once again for the Blue, making the score 6-4. The fourth period saw the New Hampshiremen score two minutes after play had been resumed. The Exonians were greatly aided in this quarter by numerous experienced substitutes who were too fresh for our tired team. Nevertheless the score remained 6-5 until three minutes before the closing gun, when a masked shot slipped by Ritts who could not see the ball coming. With the score tied and one minute left to play, Exeter tallied the winning goal and the score remained 7-6.

Credit for the success of the season must be divided among Coach Leonard F. James, Captain Marshall, and Manager Johnny Rowbotham, each of whom did more than his share of the necessary work.

TENNIS

WHEN illness deprived the tennis squad of Schulhof, the only returning letterman besides Captain Wilhelm, the year's prospects seemed none too bright. Goodkind, Ethridge, and R. Davis, all of last year's second team, showed improvement, however, and the team was further strengthened by the appearance of several experienced tennis players among the "preps." Coach Pat Kelly was reinforced by the assistance of Bartram Kelley, who until this year had been an assistant coach at the Choate School. Bad weather held up the preliminary competition and the results of these matches were so inconsistent that Coach Kelley couldn't hit upon an accurate ranking until after the first few outside meets had been played.

In spite of the lack of practice the team had little trouble in vanquishing the Bowdoin Junior Varsity team 8 to 1. On the following Saturday the team journeyed to Choate School. Here the team's lack of practice became evident and the Choate players proved to be a little too steady in every match. Captain Wilhelm lost his first match to Captain Eckhart of Choate after a long and hard struggle.

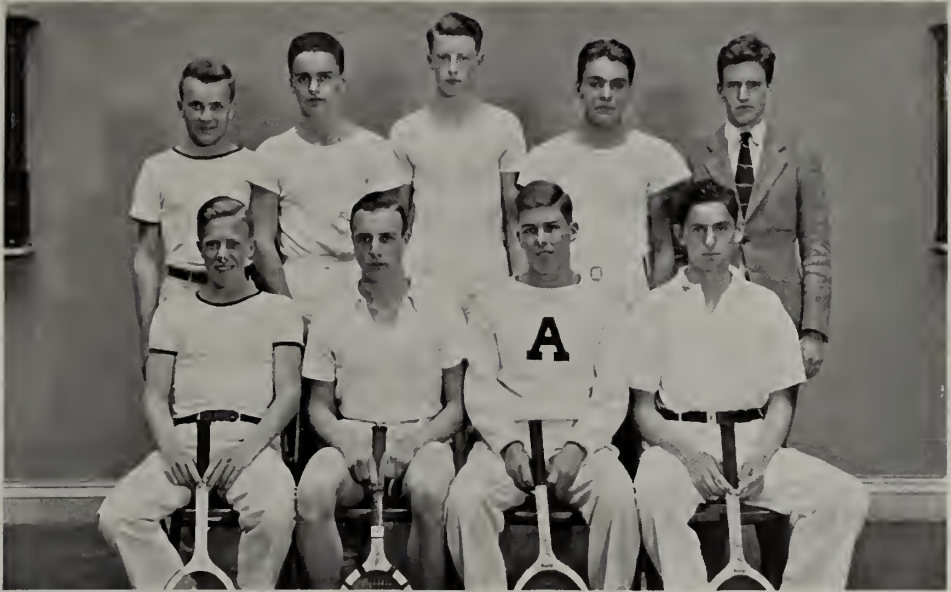

Dropping only one singles and one doubles match, the Andover team made quick work of the St. Paul's team. The entire squad was playing better than it had up to that time, and showed the constructive effect of the matches with Choate.

On Saturday, however, a strong team of Harvard Freshmen defeated the home team 7 to 2. Playing very good tennis, Captain Wilhelm won his match in the number one singles position, and then paired with Goodkind in the doubles to win the second of the team's only two points.

In the next three matches the team ran through Milton Academy, Hebron Academy, and the M. I. T. Freshmen with very little difficulty. Only two points were won by the combined opposition of these three teams while Andover scored 25.

This winning streak was ended, however, by a strong Dartmouth Freshman team. Captain Wilhelm, playing well, came from behind to defeat his able opponent in the best match of the afternoon. Showing decided improvement, Diamond won his match, and a third point was secured by Ethridge and R. Davis in the doubles.

The team dropped a close match to Exeter in the final meet of the season. All of the six singles matches were fought to the three-set limit, but Exeter finally won by the safe margin of 6-3, her men taking two of the three doubles matches. Thus Andover finished a mediocre season, winning five matches, and losing four. Captain Wilhelm and Manager Murray deserve credit for their leadership in the 1938 tennis season.

GOLF

WITH three returning lettermen and the largest squad ever to report for golf, the prospects for the 1938 season were extremely promising. Coach Allen found that his large squad had in its ranks some of the best junior golfers in the country. To supplement returning lettermen, Captain Wigley, Williams, and Hardwicke, were two new men, Martin and Mulcahy, and Gardner, a member of last year's second team.

In the first match, held at North Andover, a twelve-man team defeated the Faculty 9-3. Mid-season form was exhibited by the P. A. Golfers, for they won by this score even after giving rather large handicaps to the masters.

Meeting Governor Dummer on the home course at the Andover Country Club, the Blue outplayed the team from South Byfield $7\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$. In this match four men handed in scores in the seventies. Since no manager had been elected at the end of the 1937 season, Tim Ireland was chosen to manage the 1938 team after this contest.

The following Saturday the team went over to the Belmont Country Club to play the Harvard Freshmen. In this first real test of their strength, the Andover golfers emerged victorious, 6-3. Good golf was played by the entire team on this course with which they were unacquainted.

A less-experienced Nashua High School team fell at the hands of the Andover second team, $7\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$. The entire second team, composed of Murray, Viney, Frackleton, Hollowell, Coursen, and Lewis handed in good scores. A four-man team from Lawrence Academy was beaten 6-0 in the fifth match of the season.

Our golfers journeyed down to the extremely tricky New Haven course on May 21st to meet a highly-rated Choate team. Despite the fact that the Choate team had played the course twice and the Andover team had never seen it before, P.A. won 5-4. The team played excellent golf, and they deserve a great deal of credit for winning this difficult match.

A trip up to Concord, New Hampshire, resulted in the seventh win of the season, this one over St. Paul's, by the score of 9-0.

The Andover team encountered the only loss of the season against their big rivals from Exeter. This contest was not as one-sided as the score seems to indicate, for all the individual matches were very close. Despite this one defeat, the team had a good season with seven victories. The usual praise is due to Coach Allen, Captain Wigley, and Manager Ireland for their share in the team's success.

FENCING

IN January an average and somewhat inexperienced group of prospects turned out for the 1938 fencing team. As the Exeter meet drew near, however, the squad shaped into a competent team with Jones, Captain Koch, and Katze outstanding.

Two preliminary meets were held before the start of the year's schedule, the first, with Brown freshmen, resulting in a 9-8 victory for the Blue. Not so fortunate was the outcome of the second, which was lost to the Boston Y.M.C.U., 3-6.

With valuable experience gained from the first encounters, Andover met the powerful Dartmouth Sword Club with reasonable confidence, but was defeated, 12-5. The next encounter, with M.I.T., was fought with épées and foils only, and resulted in Andover's third defeat of the year. Still confident, Andover's fencers went onto the mat with the Harvard freshmen, one of the strongest teams in its class in the East; the Blue went down to defeat under overwhelming competition, by a score of 21-6.

With the Exeter meet only a week away, the Blue journeyed to Loomis Academy in high hopes, only to return with 16½-10½ defeat. Willets, Jones, Katze, and Wiss performed exceptionally well for Andover, with Willets winning all three of his events.

Having won one and lost five difficult matches, the first and second team foils squad invaded Exeter to meet an only average opponent. Since a single weapon was used in the meet only Captain Koch, Willets, and A. B. Jones, who have fought throughout the season on the first string, and Dargan, Lynch, Bixby, and Boynton of the second team made the trip. In this last meet of the year A. B. Jones and Captain Koch were outstanding, winning two out of three bouts. This third meet in the series of Andover-Exeter fencing contests resulted in another victory for Andover, 5-4.

Pattinson, Copley, Scudder, Magowan, Danforth, Cox

POLO

EVERY member of last year's polo team returned to school this fall, providing Coach Lyle Phillips with ample material for an excellent quartet. Captain Scudder and Manager Copley led Andover's poloists, who practiced daily all through the fall and spring at the near-by Andover Riding Stables.

The team's showing during the fall term was better than it has been for many years, despite the handicaps it encountered. The team had no home field, little practice and as opponents in most cases, experienced men. During the fall there were several encounters with the Danvers Polo Club and the Dedham Hunt Club. The only preparatory school team that Captain Scudder's men met was from Roxbury. With such top-flight competition it was remarkable that the team could hold its own.

The record for the spring was as impressive as the fall's, the team winning a good portion of its many difficult contests. On May twenty-first Andover, handicapped by the loss of two good men, encountered Avon Old Farms in the most important game of the year. The opponents played superbly and overcame our team by scoring eight goals in the last chukker.

The school unquestionably owes both its congratulations and thanks to Coach Phillips and the team for the fine record they have compiled this year. It is to be hoped that next year's team under the leadership of Norris McGowan will receive enthusiasm, support, and above all the team will get the playing field that polo at Andover deserves, but has not had in the past.

JUNIOR ATHLETICS

COACHED by Frank Di Clementi for the third year, Junior Athletics proved itself a success in 1937-38. Introduced with the intention of giving the younger members of Phillips Academy a chance to compete in athletics with others of their same size and ability, it has made itself a permanent necessity on Andover hill. During the most important years of a growing boy's life, Junior Athletics provides a means of close attention that could not be secured elsewhere.

In the fall and spring terms, before soccer, football, or baseball, the group did calisthenics for twenty minutes each day. Coached by Mayo, Garvan, Lewis, Crispell, Bell, and Page, the fall football and soccer teams showed up well. The football team met four outside teams, and ended up with two wins and two defeats; meanwhile, the soccer team won their only outside game. In the Williams Hall-Rockwell games, the boys from Williams took the football encounter, but dropped the soccer game to their rivals.

During the winter term, most of those students who had been members of Junior Athletics the preceding term, spent their time on body-building work in the gymnasium, and a few who needed correction, attended posture classes in the morning. This spring, the sports in which the Juniors participated were baseball and soccer. There were no outside soccer games, but the baseball team met five teams: Brooks, Fessenden, Central High School of Lawrence, Essex County Training School, and Governor Dummer. The first game was won by the overwhelming score of 26-0, a victory which shows that the prospects for next year's club and varsity teams are very good. Beside these outside games, the Junior group met the regular club teams twice a week.

ANDOVER: A Great American Prep School

THE United States has long been proud of its great private schools. The relative educational and social standing of these American prep schools is debatable, but one thing is certain: Phillips Academy, Andover, has the distinction of possessing the most beautiful school campus. Andover's many buildings provide its seven hundred students with ample facilities for their many activities. Here you see the central part of the vast campus. Andover seniors live in dormitories such as modern Paul Revere Hall (P); eat at the Commons, known as the Beanery (B); study partly in the Library (L); go to morning assembly, movies, and lectures, in George Washington Hall (G); attend most classes in Samuel Phillips Hall (S); go to Sunday chapel in the beautiful Cochran Church (C).

Headmaster Claude M. Fuess stands on the steps of his fine old residence, Phelps House, one of New England's famous colonial homes.

The Oliver Wendell Holmes Library is one of the largest secondary school libraries; it houses some fifty thousand books.

The Memorial Tower was erected in honor of Andover men, killed in the World War.

Manager Church Davis reads the traditional "telegrams."

Waiting for the "Special."

"All Aboard" for Exeter.

"Tickets Please."

"How Soon do we get there?"

CCHEERED on by the loyal student body, seven hundred strong, the Blue splashed out a muddy 20-15 victory.

"Line Up four abreast."

An Exchange of cheers.

The Band leads the parade to the field.

The Kickoff

A Muddy Field and rainy day make the pigskin elusive.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF AN ANDOVER SENIOR

"Turn it off"

Time of arising varies with each boy. Student waiters who have to be at the Commons early get up at six-thirty or later; other boys generally calculate the time it takes to get dressed, washed, and to the Commons by 7:20, and then sleep as late as possible. Occasionally boys sleep through breakfast and eat at "Leon's" after Assembly.

7:19 A.M. — Breakfast is served from 7:05 to 7:20.

A Daily Task

A "butt" on the Senior Fence before 7:45 Assembly.

All up for the Doxology.

CLASSES and study periods run from 8:07—1:00 five days a week, on Saturday from 8:07—12:00. During the course of a week an Andover Senior must have nineteen hours of classroom recitations and generally carries twenty.

Mr. Leonard's English class meets at a round table.

"Bugology" is a popular study.

Physics Lab comes twice a week.

Lunch at the "Beanery."

AT one o'clock lunch is served by student waiters to all but Williams Hall boys. From lunch until 4:22 there are no classes. Athletics take up part of this time. Classes and study periods begin again at 4:22 and end at 6:15.

A Moment of Relaxation in Flagstaff Court after lunch.

Hitting the "Dummy"

A Daily Workout

SUPPER is at 6:15. Boys must be in their dormitory by 8:00. There they may study in their own rooms or get excuses to go to other buildings. Ten-thirty is the average bedtime.

After Supper Uppers and Seniors may smoke and be served a demi-tasse in the beautifully appointed Commons Room.

"A Dick Session"

CAMPUS CHARACTERS

EVERY prep school has its campus characters, who, although not necessarily officially connected with the school, are, nevertheless, an integral part of the daily lives of the students. Andover is no exception.

Joe runs the athletic stock room.

Arthur is always welcome.

Doc Leon is the friendly "boss" of the favorite eating place.

"Buck" is the brains behind Langrock's.

Mark drums up trade for Burnis.

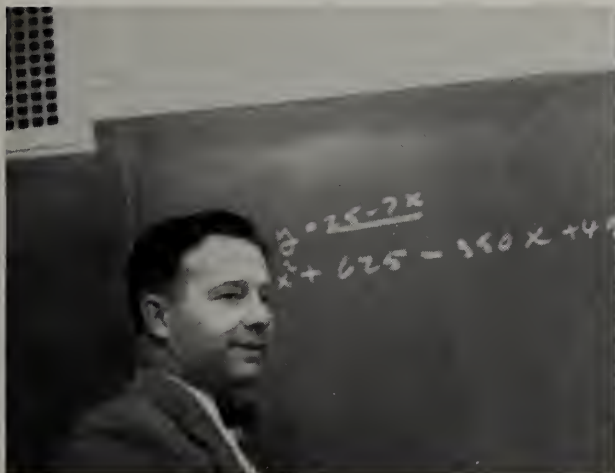

FACULTY

Registrar Eccles and Athletic Coach Flannagan watch an indoor track meet.

Mr. Newton teaches French and German.

Mr. Sides tells you to visualize the condition.

Dr. Page is Athletic Director and takes a great interest in P. I. tests.

Mr. Dake leaves his chemistry department for a trip with his swimming team.

Popular Larry Shields attends a wedding in the company of "Count" Barrows.

Oil Goes to an Andover Tea Dance

Girls are met at the Andover depot.

A car from Newton.

Eyes for the moment leave the football game.

"There's that look in your eyes again."

ANDOVER

Richard Crooks sings to an appreciative Andover audience on one of the regular Friday evening entertainments.

Sunday chapel is held at eleven o'clock in the beautiful Cochran Church.

Every Saturday Night the student body flocks to the movies at George Washington Hall.

The Riveters—the school jazz-band swing out.

Prepping—an old tradition.

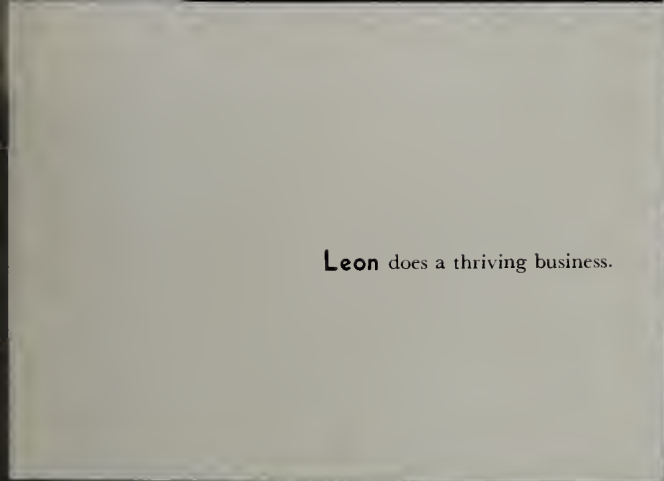

LIFE

Temple's music shop is a haven for jazz addicts.

Mr. Shields explains "dorsal and ventral."

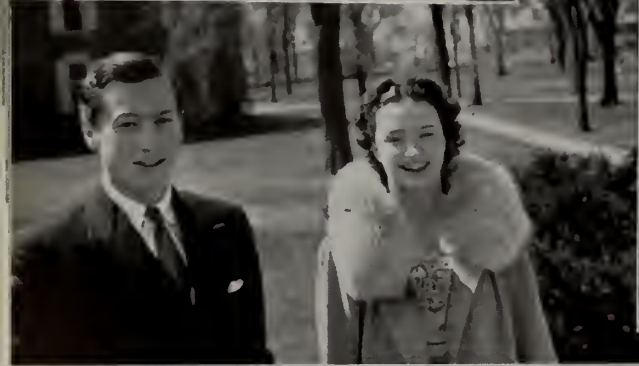

Leon does a thriving business.

The Commons is ably and efficiently manned by a corps of student waiters.

ONCE again a senior class has played out its part in the history of Andover.

The Andover Shop expresses appreciation for the part it has been privileged to play in the success of the Class of 1938 through providing correct dress in keeping with their high standards.

We sincerely hope that we may have the opportunity for continued service through LANGROCK shops at Yale, Harvard, Brown, Williams, Princeton, or New York City.

...about this question of
SAFETY

General Motors cars are as safe as modern engineering methods and experience can make them. Every known and proved factor of safety is embodied in all of them—including such improvements as Knee-Action; Super-Hydraulic Brakes; Unisteel Turret Top Fisher Bodies; Fisher No Draft Ventilation and scores of other outstanding safety features. But all the safety that General Motors engineers, or any other engineers, can build into a car is effective only if the driver uses common sense and ordinary judgment.

Here are several suggestions. They are simple, practical, easy to remember, easy to observe:

Learn all you can about your car—what makes it go, what keeps it going.

Exercise the highest degree of care in the matter of speed, in the observance of traffic regulations and in extending the courtesies of the road.

If there is some part of your car's mechanism you would like to know more about, the dealer from whom you bought it will gladly answer your questions.

Take good care of your car. Keep it looking bright and new; keep it in perfect running order.

"WE DRIVERS," a series of brief discussions on driving, sent free on request. Write Department of Public Relations, General Motors Corporation, Detroit, Mich.

Father and Son--A Partnership

Thousands of fathers have started their sons' business education while their boys were still at school. They have taken them into partnership by buying Penn Mutual Father and Son Life Insurance. If the son helps to pay the premiums from money he earns, or from his allowance, the plan makes it possible for him to—

- (1) Enter his first business venture with his father as a partner.
- (2) Learn the importance of consistent saving.
- (3) Begin his estate building through one of the best and safest investments in the world.
- (4) Obtain the insurance he will need in the future at his present low rate.

The Father and Son policy is but one example of the leadership of the Penn Mutual in adapting life insurance to present-day financial needs.

Exceeding the standards . . .

Typog- raphy

Are attractive and related type faces used throughout the book? Does typography suit the plan of book? Is it easy to read? Is there a proper relationship between body type, headings and identifications? Are the following common faults avoided: too many type families or sizes; type used too black or too heavy; body type too small for length of the line; excessive use of all-capitals?

Average
Score

*Printing

Do opposite pages line up properly? Are pages properly backed up? (Hold a sheet of your book to the light and note whether or not the page behind lines up at the margins exactly with the page in front). Are bleed pictures properly trimmed? Is the color work perfectly registered? (i.e. does each color fit exactly the spots for which it is intended?) Is the ink distribution uniform throughout the book, or are some pages light and others dark in color? Are the pages free from offset (smudges or spots on the paper)? from broken type? from work-ups (spacing material that registers)?

Printing Your Score

25

This is the rating given by the National Scholastic Press Association of the University of Minnesota to one of New England's largest Annuals—printed at the Andover Press.

{ Typography . . . 33% above average }
{ Presswork . . . 67% above average }

Which explains why so many yearbooks in this vicinity choose Andover to do their printing.

They get superior workmanship and personal cooperation at a price they can afford to pay.
